Report from Steering Committee

The Steering Committee is excited to report on our final year of accomplishments for our 2008-2010 Strategic Plan. The Committee consisted of Mandy Faulkner (chair), Halina Siedlikowski (vice-chair), Ann Hodge (Secretary/Treasurer - stepped down in December 2009), Sandy Onyalo (Secretary/Treasurer), Isabelle N. Miron (Chair of the Accessibility and Outreach Standing Committee - on leave as of January 2010), Christine Duchesne (Chair of the Accessibility and Outreach Standing Committee), Lula Adam (Chair of the Advocacy and Public Engagement Standing Committee - stepped down in December 2009), Bailey Reid, Valerie Collicott and Line Lebel-Lylyk (Co-Chairs of the Advocacy and Public Engagement Standing Committee), Angelika Lorinser (Chair of the Justice Standing Committee), Sandy Milne (Chair of the Front-line Support Committee), Christine Culham-Keays (Member-at-large and Secretary/Treasurer - stepped down in September 2009), Bonnie Stephanson (Member-at-large), Jenny Wolff-Jean-Francois (Member-at-large), Richard Tomlinson (Member-at-large), Stefanie Lomatski (Member-at-large) and Erin Williams (Staff - Executive Director).

The three Steering Subcommittees have been quite busy working to develop and put into place the appropriate policies, procedures and work plans, all in line with the mission and vision of OCTEVAW. The three Subcommittees consist of the following: Governance and Nominations, Human Resources and Finance.

The Governance and Nominations Subcommittee was chaired by Halina Siedlikowski, and included Sandy Onyalo, Mandy Faulkner and Erin Williams. Our Conflict of Interest Policy was created by the Subcommittee and approved by Steering this year. The Subcommittee also engaged in strategic discussions on succession planning and AGM preparation.

The Human Resources Subcommittee was chaired by Bonnie Stephanson, and included Halina Siedlikowski and Richard Tomlinson. This year the Subcommittee worked on creating a Performance Review tool for the Executive Director position by incorporating feedback from the ED and from Steering members. The tool is an amalgamation of similar ones used at other centres and includes criteria drawn from the ED's job description. The process encouraged more personalized feedback and reflection based on progress toward and achievement of the ED's goals as articulated in her annual work plan. Our intention is that this tool will be piloted this year, and the Committee will incorporate any feedback. The Performance Review process is to be facilitated by the Chair and Vice-Chair as supervisors of the ED. At the time of printing, the Performance Review tool was approved at Steering in May 2010.

In addition, the Subcommittee recommended and received approval from Steering to add the newly legislated "Family Day" to the list of statutory/public holidays that our employees receive.

The Finance Subcommittee was chaired by Sandy Onyalo, and included Stefanie Lomatski, Mandy Faulkner and Erin Williams. The Subcommittee continued to work extremely hard to establish a sustainable and transparent financial system. This work was done in part with the extraordinary help of Adva Cohen from FSFO and Gaele Card, our contract bookkeeper. The committee is also continuing to work with our funders to broaden our funding base. We engaged our primary funder, the City of Ottawa, in a discussion regarding our funding and continue to establish a relationship with the Ministry of Community and Social Services. The Subcommittee has also made recommendations to Steering to move forward with Incorporation and Charitable Status.

As a whole, our coalition is in its final year of our three-year Strategic Plan 2008-2010. A Strategic Planning Subcommittee was struck to work on preparations for a one-day strategic planning retreat for OCTEVAW members in the fall of 2010. Barbara Laskin from Meta4 Communications was hired as our Strategic Planning Consultant and is responsible for helping the Subcommittee to evaluate the coalition's previous plan and facilitate an inclusive, bilingual, and inter-sectoral strategic planning process for 2011-2013.

We are confident that OCTEVAW will continue to engage its membership and the community in the valuable work that the coalition undertakes. Only in solidarity and united voices can we continue to strive to end all forms of violence towards women and its impact on children.

Report from Executive Director

This year, longer-term and more sustainable initiatives were pursued with our inter-sectoral partners to advance our collective response to violence against women. A keen interest on financial sustainability through actively pursuing more funding was a clearly stated goal for this year and was follow-up accordingly. A comprehensive Outreach Plan was implemented this year which will extend into 2011 and a special focus on advocacy and response letters to various bills and policy leaders in a local, provincial and federal level were increased.

This year, the APE Standing Committee split into two committees, the Advocacy working group and the Public Engagement working group. Lula Adam was initially chair of this entire Standing Committee, but after the working groups began to function, Isabelle N. Miron took over as Chair of Advocacy while Bailey Reid became the Chair of Public Engagement. Together the working groups effectively communicated with media, advocated in both local and international legislative areas and engaged the public through the OCTEVAW website, forums and pamphlets.

All together both working groups consisted of the following members:

Man Talk Forum - October 15 & 16, 2009

One of the main initiatives that were identified as paramount during this strategic plan was finding positive ways to engage men in ending violence against women. As such, in October 2009, the APE Standing Committee successfully organized Man Talk, an event that was the first of its kind in Ottawa. Man Talk looked to begin a dialogue in the community about engaging men and boys in ending violence against women (VAW). We worked in partnership with the Sexual Assault Network, and invited Michael Kauffman, co-founder of the White Ribbon Campaign to come to speak to us. Day 1 of the forum focused on service providers with over 130 participants present, and Day 2, with over 200 students, was hosted by Carleton University and focused on youth from both high school and university. Michael created a new resource for young men focusing on guy stuff and healthy relationships entitled: "What every guy oughta /gotta know about good relationships." He focused on the nature and causes of men's violence against women and concrete strategies, action plans and effective approaches to address it. Since the event, many community initiatives have been sparked by male youth.

Website Re-launch - January 2010

We increased the support to our public engagement strategy through an enhancement to our website in order to increase its accessibility by:

1. Creating a bilingual events calendar and forums page. The current site was only partially bilingual. Now Francophone women will see our widely popular events calendar in French.
2. Updating the events calendar to make it accessible for members to post events bilingually.
3. Making our site more accessible for people with vision impairments who rely on screen readers to navigate the site by replacing embedded graphics with text links.
4. Creating easy to use paths for the URL's of each page which makes the site easier to search and better indexable.
5. Creating a side bar to highlight important parts of the website that users can easily navigate to.
6. Updating the code of the website to be compliant with W3C standards.

Advocacy Letters and Petitions

Another major focus was letters to Parliamentarians and Senators on disarming domestic violence and keeping the gun registry to protect women in August 2009. The Committee also drafted and published letters on "Women at Risk" and the murders of Jessica Lloyd and Marie-France Comeau. We addressed a sexual assault which occurred on a school bus and produced a positive public education letter for Halloween advertising campaigns by local clubs in the Byward market aimed at young women and men. The Committee worked to keep abreast of the Niqab issue and the recently purposed legislation in Quebec by conferring with the Canadian Muslim Women's group.

The Committee signed the following petitions on OCTEVAW'S behalf: campaign to gain the freedom of a young Canadian woman held against her will by her father in Saudi Arabia, the domestic violence bail reform, and the reinstatement of funding for the Aboriginal Healing Foundation. Members also attended the Global Action Day sessions on Human Trafficking.

Femicide Forum - April 29, 2009

Shake the Justice Tree, an ad-hoc subcommittee which was formed in the community to bring together various ideas on how to end the murders of women in Ottawa, held a symposium with the Committee during National Victims of Crime Awareness Week entitled "Supporting, Connecting, Evolving: Ottawa's Response to Intimate Partner Femicide." The forum provided the opportunity for many different agencies and organizations to come together to discuss the Ontario Domestic Violence Death Review Committee (DVDRC) recommendations from 2004-2007. Over 140 people were in attendance.

Hidden from Sight Statistical Report - May 2009

OCTEVAW received a grant from MCSS to conduct a research project on the prevalence of violence against women in Ottawa from 2007-2008. The first of its kind in our city, the project had two main goals: to consolidate currently available VAW data collected by local agencies and to educate the public on the prevalence of VAW in Ottawa. In total, 16 agencies, services and institutions contributed by providing relevant data. A final report was written detailing our findings along with recommendations arising out of the process and was released in May 2009. A Volume 2 has been planned and funding has been received from the Community Foundation of Ottawa.

Human Trafficking - June 2009

Sgt. Dan Ste-Marie of the RCMP presented to OCTEVAW members on Human Trafficking. Approximately 32 people attended the presentation. Sgt. Dan Ste-Marie discussed the difference between human smuggling (voluntary movement of people across borders) vs. human trafficking (exploitation/recruitment of people through force, coercion, abduction, threat, etc. and may include acts generally defined as human rights abuses). Thanks to all who attended and helped in getting this together.

Advocacy Initiatives

Members of the Justice Committee reviewed and respond to the submission by The Men's Project to the Cornwall Public Inquiry. One of the concerns addressed was: "Why existing shelters for victims of family violence exclude men and their children?" In addition, the Justice committee continued to investigate cross-training and information sharing with the Judges and the Justices of the Peace.

Court Watch Project

Despite the challenges of developing a project without funding, OCTEVAW's Court Watch project has continued to grow over the past year. The Court Watch Committee has expanded and currently includes representatives from Harmony House, the Elizabeth Fry Society, Maison D'amitié, the University of Ottawa and Ottawa Victim Services. The Court Watch project has also gained numerous students and volunteers who dedicate a great deal of time and energy to keep the project running, either by attending court and recording information with the survey tool, conducting research or administering the project.

4. Front-line Support (FLSC) Standing Committee

There are approximately 45 members of the FLSC with about 40 active members (those who attend meetings). Attendance is approximately 25 members per meeting. FLSC meetings are held from September to June approximately every 6 weeks on Friday mornings at Family Services à la famille Ottawa. There were 8 meetings held in the fiscal year April 2009 to March 2010.

The work plan continues to have the following goals:

1. Provide a forum for networking sharing information and providing support
2. Identify trends and current issues
3. Optimize options for women seeking service regarding abuse
4. Maintain a grassroots perspective of service delivery
5. Engage in political action and advocacy
6. Promote public awareness regarding VAW
7. Support and promote diversity and accessibility
8. Acknowledge workplace safety and emotional well-being

The FLSC engaged in the following initiatives this past year:

- The committee maintains a lawyers list and support group list for its members
- FLSC keeps a list of presentations that members have made in the community
- An FLSC member represents OCTEVAW at the Legal Aid Ontario Family Law Advisory Committee
- Two members from the FLSC represented OCTEVAW at a Risk Assessment Conference. A sub-committee of FLSC reviewed over a dozen risk assessment tools and produced "A Review of the Risk Assessment Tools." This is now included in the Ottawa Service Providers Guide to Safety Planning for Intimate Partner Violence
- FLSC members participated in raising awareness of VAW at the Ottawa Hospital Civic Campus having a Museum Wall Display re 16 Days of Activism and display tables were set up at the Civic and General Campus during Woman Abuse Awareness Month
- Members presented on New Identities for Victims of Crime, Canadian Conference on the Prevention of Domestic Violence
- FLSC members provided support and review to the Ottawa Services Providers Guide to Safety Planning for Intimate Partner Violence
- Outreach and diversifying FLSC membership
- The 20th anniversary of the Women's Support Group Facilitators Sub-Committee (now Front-Line Support Committee) commemorated the women who started doing groups for abused women and who began the committee 20 years ago. A luncheon was held and Joan Gullen presented these inaugural members with plaques beautifully made by a FLSC member

The FLSC members actively participated in making this a relevant committee, one where members: continue to bring issues to the table affecting women we work with; participate in sub-committees requiring additional work; bring VAW awareness to the community; and volunteer with tasks to enable the committee to work smoothly. Overall, as FLSC members, we can be proud of our collective efforts.
